FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NATIONAL SHERIFF'S ASSOCIATION ANNOUNCES ELITE CORPORATE SPONSOR FOR ANNUAL CONFERENCE AND EXHIBITION

2017 Annual Education and Technology Expo Sponsored By Circinus, LLC

The National Sheriffs Association (NSA) officially announced that the Fredericksburg, VA based Circinus, LLC has agreed to a Corporate Partner Sponsorship with the NSA during the upcoming Annual Conference to be held in Reno, NV on June 23-28, 2017. Circinus is a new NSA partner and marks the first time the company has partnered to sponsor a law enforcement association.

"Circinus is honored and proud to support the National Sheriffs Association (NSA), its stellar record as a forum for the latest in programs and training in crime fighting techniques during this year's Annual Education and Technology Expo" said Circinus President of Law Enforcement Division, the Honorable Ted Sexton. Sexton is a former elected Sheriff, Tuscaloosa County, AL, former President of the National Sheriffs Association and a recipient of the organization's "Sheriff of the Year" award in 2007.

Circinus will be presenting educational panels and highlighting their Intelligent Policing partnership with the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office (Birmingham, AL) which has been the focus of academic interest and study. "The need for scientific research showing effective policing strategies, practical solutions to address increasingly sophisticated criminal behavior and to build positive community support for the use of digital technologies must be addressed by experts in the collection, analysis and legal application of new tools" said Dr. Dora Kingsley Vertenten, Professor of Public Policy, University of Southern California.

Circinus will also be hosting the technology expo with key personnel from around the country available to discuss necessary resources, state of the art technology options and applications for new information aggregation and other intelligent policing strategies and processes.

"The National Sheriffs Association is fortunate to have the support of a well-respected and successful private partner like Circinus" said NSA General Counsel Richard M. Weintraub.
