

REIMAGINING CORRECTIONAL BEHAVIORAL HEALTH.

Today the corrections industry faces unprecedented challenges.

As the world is reeling from the dangers of the coronavirus outbreak, justice institutions are coping with the overwhelming impacts of pandemic-related emotional, operational, and financial stress. Applying our psychological expertise and proven behavioral health solutions to this immediate crisis, the Falcon team aims to protect the health and wellbeing of inmates and correctional professionals alike. Recognized for our legally and ethically-sound crisis intervention models, Falcon provides innovative, trauma-informed crisis planning, training, prevention & response program development and execution tailored to the needs and resource capacities of our partners.
